

As a consumer I am strongly opposed to our local ISPs ever being replaced by large telephone monopolies. It means a lot to me to have a local provider who is very familiar with local access. I've been a customer of Sonic.net for 10 years and they have provided extraordinary service. I do not want monopolies taking over their function.